

FIFTY ARE BELIEVED DEAD IN FOREST FIRE

JUDGE OLIVANY IS TAMMANY CHIEF; ASSUMES CONTROL

MURPHY SUCCESSOR HAS MUCH SAME POLICIES AND METHODS.

FRIEND OF SMITH

New Tiger Boss Endorses Davis-Bryan Ticket and Hyman Regime.

New York—Tammany Hall is now functioning under the fifth leader it has had since William Tweed, in 1867, instituted the one-man leadership method of control for the organization.

Judge George W. Olivany, elected yesterday, took over the reins immediately from the steering committee which had been in control since the death of Charles F. Murphy in April.

In many ways, the new leader possesses the same qualities that characterized his immediate predecessor. While he is not so reticent as was Murphy, he is known among his political associates as a man who has the courage to say no when it is required.

The new leader was born on the east side, near the boyhood home of Governor Smith, and is a close friend of the governor.

As a member of the law committee, Judge Olivany has had a part in every election involving a Tammany candidate in the last five years. After his election, he made it known that he would pattern his leadership on that of Murphy.

In a statement he endorsed the Davis-Bryan ticket and the Hyman administration.

GIRL SAVED AS TWO BOY HEROES DIE

Freezing and blowing drifted in a disabled sail canoe for three days and nights after her two boy companions were drowned, 15-year-old Margaret Murehoun, who today was rescued, was found by the district shore, struggling through the marshes skirting Lake Michigan.

With Wilbur Hoskins and Edgar Smith, the girl set out from Big Bay Point last Friday, in a light sailing craft. A sudden storm descended, pitching its occupants into the water. Hoskins and Smith, realizing that the disabled craft would not bear them all, shouted to their companion to "hang on, baddy, my dears, and we'll look for you from the shore. They sank before they got out of sight.

Seventy-two hours later, shifting winds grounded the boat.

WINS $1,500,000 IN CORN DEAL

Chicago—With the sale of 200,000 bushels of July corn yesterday to a Chicago concern at a price around $1.10, Arthur W. Cutten is credited with having completed one of the greatest "killings" of the Chicago board of trade in recent years.

His profits since corn took a jump of 40 cents from the recent low figure are conservatively estimated by brokers at between $1,500,000 and $2,500,000.

In addition to his heavy deals in cash corn, Mr. Cutten is also reported to have cleared up the market in wheat on the recent advances of from 20 to 25 cents a bushel in the Chicago and Winnipeg markets.

PROGRESSIVES SANS SLATE

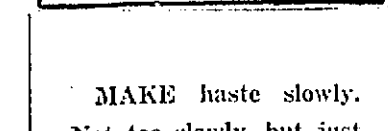

Madison—State officials and candidates for major state offices and the progressive republican ticket failed to reach an agreement on a proposed slate of candidates after an extended conference last night.

Another conference probably will be held tonight.

Officials declared today it is probable no slate will be organized.

State Labor Federation Has Long Program for Legislative Action

WISCONSIN RAPIDS—Congressman George Schneider of the ninth Wisconsin district, for many years an active member of the Wisconsin Federation of Labor, and at various times a member of its executive board, was one of the principal speakers at the annual convention of the organization opening here today.

The American Federation of Labor will be represented at the convention by Paul Smith of Washington, D. C., who comes also as the personal representative of Samuel Gompers, head of the American federation.

During the four-day convention many speakers from various parts of Wisconsin will deliver addresses. These include Judge J. C. Crowhart of the Wisconsin state supreme court, Madison; Joseph A. Padway, counsel for the Wisconsin Federation of Labor, Milwaukee; R. G. Knutson, member of the state industrial commission, Madison; William Coleman, secretary of the state socialist party, Milwaukee; and George Tammen, director of vocational training, Madison.

British Labor Conditions will be the subject of an address by Mr. Padway. This will be delivered tomorrow morning. On July 17, a discussion of the labor laws, state and national proposed laws and other matters pertaining to labor will be held before the convention.

Henry Ohl, Jr., Milwaukee, is president of the state federation. He declared that unless he could be assured of the active co-operation of men like Daniel C. Roper, Franklin Roosevelt and others who know national politics, the democratic viewpoint, due to their experience in previous campaigns, he would not take the position.

Mr. Shaver is anxious for a harmonious front. He has excellent political judgment and it was largely due to his tact that no steps were taken by the friends of John W. Davis, the pre-convention fight which might have prejudiced chances of victory. In view of the factional differences that have existed, the selection by Mr. Davis as his manager of any one who had a conspicuous part in the pre-convention fight, it is felt, might prevent harmony.

The desire of the Davis campaign to appeal to the west and middle west was noticeable in the decision to have the notification ceremonies take place at Chicago, W. Va. Mr. Shaver, campaign manager from New York, would have been looked upon as another eastern influence.

The plan of the campaign, however, calls for a strong appeal to the middle west and west. This means an argument as to what is progressivism. Before William Jennings Bryan left here he had a long talk with Mr. Davis on that subject, and when the conference was over the Commissioner told friends that the country had some surprises in store for it when it came to unfold its doctrines of progressivism.

The first session of the convention was called to order at 9 o'clock with approximately 200 delegates present. J. J. Handley, secretary and treasurer of the federation, introduced the speaker, Mr. Schneider, president of the central labor council of Wisconsin Rapids. Immediately after Mr. Schneider, Mr. Padway, secretary of the Wisconsin Federation of Labor, introduced Mr. Schneider, president of the central labor council of Wisconsin Rapids. Immediately after Mr. Schneider, Mr. Padway, secretary of the Wisconsin Federation of Labor, introduced Mr. Schneider, president of the central labor council of Wisconsin Rapids.

BLANE ASSAILED ON GASOLINE TAX BY BOARDS CHIEF

BLAINE—Governor Blaine is severely criticized for his recent stand on the proposed gasoline tax by Mr. W. W. Davis, president of the Wisconsin County Boards association. In an open letter to the governor, Mr. Davis charges that the executive "broke faith" with the county boards in his promise to reduce the gasoline tax in the last legislature and that the distribution proposed by Mr. Blaine recently is absurd.

A charge made by the governor, namely, that the county boards are attempting to mislead the public on the measure in his campaign addresses.

Urges Truth Addressed.

After quoting the governor's recent platform regarding the gasoline tax, Mr. Davis said:

"You then state that the bill you voted against in the last legislature was not the reason for your veto. I challenge that statement, as being a piece of sheer and reckless misrepresentation. In discussing public problems, the executive should at least adhere to the truth."

The letter then discussed the reasons for the veto of the gas bill as set forth in the Senate Journal.

"Every one of the objections you urged against the gas bill in your veto message is just as true of the gas tax as the bill itself. It is a distribution which you proposed, which, incidentally, is absurd. If the proceeds of the gasoline tax are distributed over all the roads, it is just as much a sales tax as if the proceeds were distributed over limited mileage."

State 4s Announced.

A letter written by the governor to the letter upon the governor's attitude upon the measure, concluding:

"The men interested in the road movement in Wisconsin are not going to be deceived by your attempt to juggle with road financing. They are thoroughly aroused and awakened. They are far more competent to judge of this matter than you are. Your shift evasions are too plain and apparent. The people of Wisconsin are not in their senses when they give their credit for action that you give them credit for."

AMERICAN FLYERS RESTING IN PARIS AFTER LONG GRIND

TAKE BREATHING SPELL BEFORE STARTING FOR LONDON.

Homeward Path Includes Iceland, Greenland, Labrador and Quebec.

PARIS—Tired and weary from their 1,800 mile battle against the air, the United States army and the world pilots today took a breathing spell in Paris and planned to hop off for London early in the morning.

The pilots of the three planes and their assistants made a stop at Le Bourget airport yesterday afternoon. They are 12 days behind their original schedule but with a gain of 12 days to their credit since they left New York. They made the hop from Vienna to Paris without difficulty and after circling over the city and dropping flowers on the tomb of the unknown soldier, they landed at Le Bourget airfield and were almost overcome by the enthusiasm of their reception.

The Stars and Stripes floated in profusion beside the Tri-color as far as the eye could see at Le Bourget.

Crowds Break Bounds.

So great were the crowds to welcome the Americans that the small force of guards at the flying field (Continued on Page 9)

GOPHER LABOR TO BACK LA FOLLETTE

WISCONSIN RAPIDS—Ninety-eight percent of the labor vote in Minnesota will go to Robert M. La Follette, according to a recent survey conducted by the farmer-labor convention recently held at St. Paul. The assertion made by E. G. Hall, president of the Minnesota State Federation of Labor in an address before the convention of the Wisconsin Federation of Labor in session here.

The labor leader urged the delegates to take an active part in the present political campaign and in his speech he hinted that the Wisconsin senator was their only hope. He reviewed the recent rise to power of the labor parties in England and France and said the movement would have a favorable effect on the United States.

The first session of the convention was called to order at 9 o'clock with approximately 200 delegates present. J. J. Handley, secretary and treasurer of the federation, introduced the speaker, Mr. Schneider, president of the central labor council of Wisconsin Rapids. Immediately after Mr. Schneider, Mr. Padway, secretary of the Wisconsin Federation of Labor, introduced Mr. Schneider, president of the central labor council of Wisconsin Rapids.

HEAR PETITION ON TRACK WEDNESDAY

The petition of the Janesville Traction company to abandon its line upon Washington street, will be heard by the state railroad commission Wednesday. The public hearing will be held at 10 a. m. in the city hall. All interested parties are expected to be present.

The street car company, through its attorneys, Nolan, Dougherty and Grubb, Janesville, claims that the cost of paving the tracks upon North Washington street would entail too great an expense. Paying across the railroad tracks would also necessitate additional expense.

Between 300 and 400 persons have signed a petition against discontinuance of the line and 12 persons are riding in its operation. The movement was started by George Woodruff and Mrs. Thomas R. Anderson.

It is expected that L. E. Gettle, chairman of the commission, and Adolph Kanneberg and Andrew McDonald, members, will be present at the hearing. The city will be represented by Roger Cunningham.

New Glarus Man Dies of Injuries After Auto Crash

MONTICELLO—Suffering internal injuries when the automobile in which he was riding, Friday afternoon, on route to Brownsville, tipped over into a ditch after it had turned over to pass a county truck, O. D. Curtis, an employee of the condensation at New Glarus, died at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday at the home of a relative in Brownsville.

Robert Bartlett, another occupant of the car, is in the Monroe hospital, where 25 stitches were taken in his face and arm, while the driver and only other occupant of the car, Otto Meyer, escaped unhurt.

The men left New Glarus early in the afternoon enroute to a farm near Brownsville, where they were to transact business. Mr. Meyer, believing he had room to pass the truck, turned out and the car rolled into the ditch.

Police made the hop from Brownsville to New Glarus, where they were so serious that he could not be moved to a hospital.

Each time he was told his wife was not home, and shortly before midnight he went to his home, found Mrs. Roman was not in, and started out in search of her. He encountered a machine in which he recognized his wife, jumped to the running of the other machine and fired three shots.

He then called the police and advised them he had shot two persons.

WHOLESALE CHARGED WITH LAW BREAKING

WASHINGTON—The Wisconsin Wholesale Grocers' association and the Michigan Grocers' association are now organizing forces in the interior with a view to attacking the revolutionists.

The revolutionary leader, General Isidoro Diaz Lopez, has proposed to have the government to the interior vice president of the state of Sao Paulo, Colonel Fernando Prestes, but the latter has indignantly refused to accept the proposition.

The associations were charged with attempting to dictate the channels through which grocery products might reach the consuming public, specifying that they must first be delivered by the producer to the wholesaler, then to the retailer, and then to the public.

All other methods of merchandising, the complaint alleged, were termed illegal by them.

HUNDREDS GATHER FOR PARK OPENING

Golf, Picnics and Dancing Make Up Diversions at Riverside.

With a number of social clubs transferring the scenes of their meetings to Riverside park, the opening of the park and the new municipal golf course took place Tuesday afternoon. Hundreds were expected to take the kiddies, the whole family—and picnic supplies.

Picnic prevailed during the afternoon. For the children, there was playground equipment in place. The big attraction, Tuesday night, is to be a big concert by the Janesville high school band at 8:20 o'clock. Ralph C. Jack, director, has donated the services of the musical organization—one of the best in the state—and will play through the supper hour. It will be the first outdoor concert in the history of the organization.

Tuesday night, the first dance in the history of the city under auspices of a public organization, will be held at the Riverside park. The orchestra has been procured, which in itself should draw a great crowd. The pavilion has been festooned with lights and the decorations. Dancing will be at 5 cents a dance. Overflow crowds will be taken care of on the outdoor dance floor next to the pavilion as that the best kind of a time can be had.

Refreshments will be served during the afternoon and night.

The high school band will be taken in the morning and back again through the kindness of Charles Murray, superintendent of the Janesville Traction company. He has donated the use of the golf course for the day. Tuesday expressed appreciation of the civic spirit of the traction concern.

Permits for conducting the dance were taken out by the Janesville Municipal Golf club, Monday, through Ambrose J. Olson, member of the entertainment committee.

The golf course is in remarkable condition for the short time that work has been done upon it. Grass on the fairways is quite green and the new clubhouse is fast nearing completion. Some of the lumber for it was purchased by the city. When finished, it will be a fine addition to the grounds. One set of steps down into a deep gully on number two fairway has been constructed and two more are to be made. Signs were placed pointing directions to the course. Other signs were placed designating parking spaces. A diagram of the course has been placed on the grounds and one box to show the lay of the course.

Starting Wednesday, a fee of 10 cents a round of six holes will be charged, or at the rate of 15 holes for 25 cents. Books of coupons for 20 rounds of 18 holes are being sold at $10 each, making the rate 20 cents for 18 holes. These books may be purchased through Frank Trevornah, secretary of the club.

WIFE SPURNS TRIP HOME TO ITALY; HE GETS DIVORCE

Because the husband wanted to return to Italy and the wife desired to remain in the United States, Rosina Giarrizzo, Beloit, obtained a limited divorce from Fonagelo Giarrizzo in the district court Monday afternoon, Judge Grimm presiding.

The Italian couple came to the United States in 1907 and after diligent effort acquired considerable property, sufficient for their needs as measured by the standards in Italy. The wife determined to remain in this country and the trouble was aired in court. There was an even division of the property and the wife granted a home and board divorce.

Walter S. Holmes, Beloit, obtained a divorce from his wife, Clara Holmes, now living in a western state, there being a voluntary separation back in August, 1916. They were married Oct. 10, 1909, and lived together less than a year.

Harold E. Jones was arraigned in court on a contempt charge for failing to pay alimony. He satisfied the court he was paying as "much as possible" and was released without bail until the October term of court.

Judge Grimm will hold court again in Janesville next Monday and Tuesday afternoons.

Move to Protect Grade Crossing to Golf Course

Portion to make a public highway of the upper road leading from the Janesville road into the municipal golf course in Riverside park will be presented to the railroad commission Wednesday at its hearing here in city hall.

The proposed highway leads into the grounds at a point about a half a mile beyond the old entrance of the park at the end of North Washington street. The road crosses the tracks of the Chicago & North-western railroad.

The move to make the road a highway may make it necessary for the railroad to install a regular crossing and take precautions to the highway in the crossing train. The carrier will undoubtedly erect warning signs and a bell at the track intersection.

STAGES DRIVE FOR LEGAL SPOTLIGHTS

Arrests Will Result from Violations in Future, Says Patrolman.

Despite complaints of a misunderstanding of the state law on speed, Milwaukee Patrolman Milton Miller Tuesday, after warned motorists that arrests would be made if violations continued.

The section under which arrests will be made reads: "If a spot light is installed on any motor vehicle, it shall be of such construction as to make it impossible to make the center of the beam of light strike the level highway at a distance greater than 50 feet in front of the motor vehicle; except that when the beam of light is swung 90 degrees to the right or left of the straight ahead position, no limitation is placed on the height to which the beam may be raised."

The practice of mounting spotlights upon the front axle, or upon the brace between the two head lights, is especially dangerous, according to Officer Miller, who is determined to reduce accidents on the county highways.

A drive on violators of the automobile light laws, issued by the industrial commission of Wisconsin, has been started. Arrests will be made in the future.

MISTRESS WILDING:

A ROMANCE, BY RAFAEL SABATINI.

(Author of "Scaramouche," "Capt. Jack," "The Sign of the Cross," etc.)

"Well, well," sighed the Duke, "I take it we must not make certain of Mr. Fletcher's fate. He is a man of a certain sort, and I hope upon whom you think that we may reckon."

"Lord Wiltshire, perhaps," said Battiscomb, but with a lack of assurance.

"A plague on perhaps," exclaimed Monmouth, growing irritable: "I want you to name the men of whom you are certain."

Battiscomb stood silent for a moment, pondering. He looked almost foolish, like a schoolboy who hesitates to confess his ignorance of the answer to a question set him.

Fletcher swung round, his grey eyes flashing angrily, his accent more Scottish than ever.

"Is it that you're certain of none, Mr. Battiscomb?" he exclaimed.

"Indeed," said Battiscomb, "I think we may be fairly certain of Mr. Legge and Mr. Hooper."

"Of none beside?" questioned Fletcher. "Be these the only representatives of the flower of England's nobility that is to flock to the banner of the cause of England's freedom and religion?"

"Scorn stamped on every word of his question."

Battiscomb spread his hands, raised his brows, and said nothing.

"I am known," he continued, "as a man of no account, but I told your Grace yours was hardly the case of Henry the Seventh, as my Lord Grey would have you believe."

"We shall see," snapped Grey, scowling at the Scot. "The people are coming in hundreds—aye, in thousands—the gentry will follow; they must."

"Make not too sure, your Grace—oh, make not too sure," Wilding besought the Duke. "As I have said, these things have nothing to do with the lives of the people."

"Faith, can a man lose more?" asked Grey contemptuously. He disliked Wilding by instinct, which was but a reciprocation of the feeling with which Wilding was inspired by him.

"I think he can," said Mr. Wilding quietly. "A man may lose honour, he may plunge his family into ruin, he may lose the weight with a gentleman than life."

"Odds death!" Grey, giving a free rein to his dislike of this calm gentleman, "do you suggest that a man's honour is imperilled in his Grace's service?"

"I suggest nothing," answered Wilding, unmoved. "What I think, I state. If I thought a man's honour imperilled in this service, you would not see me at this table now. I can make you no more convincing answer."

Grey laughed unpleasantly, and

Dinner Stories

A rich and listless lady patron examined the handbags in a leading jeweler's shop in New York City. The clerk exhibited one bag five inches square, made of platinum and with one side almost covered with a setting of diamonds. This was offered at a price of $9,500.

But the lady surveyed the expensive bangle without enthusiasm. She turned it from side to side and over and over, regarding it with a critical eye and frowning disapprovingly. At last she voiced her comment:

"Rather pretty, but I don't like this side without diamonds. Honestly, the thing looks skimpy—decidedly skimpy."

For $5,000 additional the objectional skiminess was corrected.

A school teacher had a birthday, and the children of her school brought gifts to her in the shape of flowers and candy. One little fellow, the naughtiest of all her pupils, brought a frosted cake. To him she said:

"I was very sorry to see you remember my birthday, Robert, and I appreciate your gift. But it would be a much better birthday present if you would bring me a good boy for the rest of the term. Won't you do that?"

"Yes, miss," he said seriously. "I'll promise. Shall I take back the cake and eat it myself?"

Back Bad This Summer?

ARE you tired, weak, all worn-out this summer? Do you feel old and dispirited—tortured by constant backache and knife-like pains when you stoop or lift?

Look then to your kidneys! Well kidneys keep the blood stream pure. Weak kidneys allow poisons to accumulate and upset blood and nerves. Then comes backache, stabbing pains, headaches, dizziness, a tired, "blue" feeling and kidney irregularities.

Don't wait. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have helped thousands. They should help you. Ask your neighbor!

Here is Janesville Proof:

L. E. McGilvra, locomotive fireman, 165 Linn St., says: "I had a dull ache in my back all the time and stooping sent sharp pains through me like knife thrusts. I felt all out of gas, for backache took my strength. My kidneys acted too frequently and the secretions were scanty and burned in passage. Doan's Pills from Sherer's Drug Store relieved me of the trouble."

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred is happy to advise all mothers about the care of their children of any age, or on any subject which does not belong in the field of the doctor.

Mrs. J. W. B. writes:

"Is it right to spank a baby six months old? I know a woman who does not think she should spank her baby, yet I don't think it is right. She never does it unless she thinks the baby is just crying for spunk. It always seems to help matters, yet I cannot be convinced that it is the right thing to do."

Answer

There is nothing so brutal and foolish as spanking a baby. It merely shows that the mother has no idea of discipline, why she is punishing the baby, or the results of such methods. All she knows is that when she is angry because the baby doesn't do what pleases her she leaves herself by hitting him. It doesn't sound nice, does it? If the baby is crying from spunk she should teach him a real lesson by merely ignoring the crying. Babies are remarkably smart. They won't cry when they find it does them no good. But to spank them, it fills me with

Grey Eyes.—If your skin is sallow it shows that your digestive system is not right and no amount of bleaching will give you a white skin under such circumstances. Drink a great deal of water between meals and simplify the diet, eating almost no meat and giving preference now to the fresh green vegetables and salads.

You can tint the stray white hairs with henna so that they will not be very noticeable. A henna formula will be mailed to you if you request it and send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for forwarding.

Frene S.—The juice of half a lemon to a basin of water, used as the final rinse for shampoo, will help to keep light hair from getting dark for a long time.

Mrs. Esther J.—When using the vibrator near the eyes, always place your fingers over the eyelids and then run the vibrator over the face. There will be enough vibration passing between and through the fingers to be the right strength for all that should be given to the eyes. Never rest the vibrator on the skin or on any part of the complexion. If you do this you are giving the skin a very deep treatment, which is running a risk inasmuch as the tiny vessels could be injured. Give a light treatment for the complexion, heavier ones for scalp or any other part of the body.

J. E. M.—Build up the muscular tissues of your face and throat by massaging every day with a good cream. Use the weight of the vibrator on the latter you should first cleanse the pores with any cleansing cream, remove the old cream with hot, wet cloths, and rub the skin of the face and throat with a mixture of one part white of egg to six parts of water. Use plenty of this mixture and then run the vibrator over the face where the muscles are sagging.

Lie down and let the astringent dry and draw up the skin for 20 minutes. Remove all of the astringent by washing in warm water and then massage the building cream into the skin, after which close pores by dashing very cold water over the skin, or by an ice rub.

Helen A.—Tiny brown moles are not disfiguring as they bring out the cleanness in the skin merely by way of contrast in color, acting much like the beauty patch of generations ago. At 17 lines are temporary. Build up your health and they will be gone.

MAKING FROZEN DESSERTS

Be sure the freezer is clean before you start to make ice cream or sherberts. Chop the ice in small pieces. An easy way is to put ice in a coarse bag and pound it fine. Put the ice and coarse salt around the can in the proportion of three parts ice to one of salt. Put a layer of ice in the freezer is full. Turn the crank slowly until mixture is very cold, then turn faster and steadily until it turns quite hard. When the cream is frozen carefully brush off the salt and ice, take off cover, take out the dasher and press the cream down slowly in the can. Replace the cover, stopping up the hole with a cork. Fill the freezer with more ice and salt and cover the can. Cover with something thick like a piece of carpet or blanket and let stand one or two hours before using. Don't fill the can more than two-thirds full of cream to be frozen.

SUGGESTION

Try using embroidery thread to mend stockings. It will not fade as mending cotton often does and is especially nice on children's stockings which often have to be mended on top.

HEART AND HOME

THEY LOVE SAME MAN.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We are two sisters in our teens and in love with the same man. He has been engaged for almost a year to the older of us two. When he is with us he plays and jokes with the younger and pays little attention to the other, although he wants her to marry him. The one he is engaged to loves him dearly but hesitates to marry him for fear it is the other sister he really loves. The one he is to marry has a quiet disposition, while the other is jolly, full of pep and the opposite in everything from the other.

Which one do you think he really cares for? We would like to have your advice before making definite plans.

I think the man loves the girl to whom he is engaged. Otherwise he would make it evident by neglect of the other. He is really caring for the younger sister only means that he enjoys her. Her personality is more commanding, but to him it is more loveable.

A LOVE PROBLEM.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of 15 and have been keeping company with a young man who is very dear to me. He is only 13 years of age. I have been going with him about a year and a half and on Sundays when father is out, I go anything for me and then again I do. People tell me he runs with other girls, but I have not been with another boy since I started going with him. I told him I wanted him to go with me to a place on a certain day and he told me the same thing. I told him I would not go there and he said I should go where I wanted to and he would go where he wanted to. Do you think it

Scottdale, Pa.—"I never felt like working, and when I would try to do any work I would just drag along all day long. At times I would have terrible pains and would be in bed three or four days. I was in this condition about a year when I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the papers. I had heard different women say it was good for women's troubles, and my aunt thought it would help me as it had helped her. So I took the Vegetable Compound and it brought things right, and I was in good shape before I became a mother. I believe it helps at birth, too, as with both my other babies I suffered a great deal more than with this one. I thank you a thousand times for the good your medicine has done me."

DEFEAT of the Janesville team Sunday was the first of the local club and for the Southern Wisconsin league. That may not sound like a big deal, but on the other hand it is. The Boosters were making a big bet on their play. They appeared to be seeking more for batting honors than for team work with the stick. They were lax in making the best of every opportunity and trying to give the ball the heaviest possible ride instead of trying to lay down the hit that would mean the most in strategy. As far as the boosters are concerned, it is good when the leaders are put in such a position that they will have to fight to remain on top and where things shape up in such fashion that there is opportunity for their teams to get near first place. For Atkinson is a real contender for the 1924 flag and must be reckoned with at all times. Brodhead is coming right and must be considered before the race is over. The other teams are up there fighting and in every way, the race has lightened through Sunday's results.

THE TRACK and field games of the 1924 Olympic games forth the national in performance. Eight world records were broken and two Olympic records were equalled. The United States set five new world records in the 100, 200, 400, 800 and 1,600 meter races and equalled one Olympic record. For Finland, Willie Ritola broke two world records and leaves Nurni set two Olympic records. It was a remarkable meet that sets a big pace for years to come.

HERE'S a new one for novelty book of sports. Capt. John B. Kelley sailed his schooner, Diablos, in the recent New London-Bermuda race across the line first, but was officially recorded as second. According to the captain, he reached Bermuda, June 26, ahead of all the others. Not relieving the monotony of waiting for the remainder of the ships—14 of them—he took it easy around the island. When he returned the next day, the rest of the vessels were in. Kelley was unable to prove to the judges that he got there first. The keeper of a light house said he saw the Diablos pass in the lead, but did not see him cross the finish line.

part of his machine—one that still looms large in the league's memory and at any time may stage another sport that will put it out in front for good.

Ruel was just a fair catcher. Yankee bosses and scribbled. Griffith calls him one of the best catchers in the game today. And Ruel's work with the cosmopolitan crowd of pitchers the Sox has collected, bares out this statement.

Peckinbaugh's worth as a shortstop is known, of course. Many critics said he was through a couple of years ago. He's doing fairly well for an old boy, though.

Mogridge was wild and seldom a consistent pitcher with the Yankees. He is Griffith's pitching ace, his biggest weapon, and going strong. Russell is acting as a relief hurler.

Connie Mack sent Wild Matthews back to the minors because he couldn't handle the determined one. Griffith got him and we find Matthews as deceit as a lamb and playing the same he played when he first joined Connie. Odeen was turned loose by Connie because the full one thought that a jury would limit the hurler's activities. Leibold is playing a steady, first class game in the outfield.
